

1. Prototype for an app on mobile phone.
2. I want to sell the books, so I click on the third button. A new interface come out. I want to find is there any buyers want to buy.
3. I think the interface can help me to find some useful info easily. I can see there are are 5 books listing. I want to find out the cheapest one. I find a condition 10 one. Another copy is 7.5 condition, which is a little bit confusing. I want to compare these two with more details. Finally, I may choose the condition 10 one.
4. Now I want to buy some books.
5. I don't like whether is buy or sell. Not so clear.
6. I search the want to sell section. But the interface is the same.
7. I think the interface is confusing. Because the condition is under the title.
8. I click on one of the books. I can see the details of that book. Now I want to get the contact of the seller. Ok, I got it, I will call him.
9. Finally, I contact the seller and finish the deal.
10. I didn't use the chat box.
11. I can also get my recent contacts. But I have no idea who they are. Seller or buyer?
