1. Overall Ui is very neat and direct.
2. All the posts are very clearly listed in the main space of the website.
3. The navbar there is a hamburger icon. The effect is quite cool. It will push the page to the right. And after clicking on it, there will be more information provided. The information is mainly about the icons.
4. I will try the search function first. Firstly I try to search cs2102. The result comes out very quick. When using search funtion, the result is dynamic and showing very quickly.
5. I can see the details of the book. Everything I want. I can add the post to my favourite. The function is very useful.
6. I can use the selection function to just select those posts which I am interested in.
7. There is a clear selection icon.
8. There are some description on the icon.
9. I only want to see those I selected. At the search bar, there is an icon for showing all selected. The icon can help me to show all the selected books which can help me  to compare the interested books very directly.
10. There is some help icons for me to get more information.
11. The search function is very powerful.
12. The icon is somewhat confusing. I do not know what the second icon means.
13. In the post, there are some necessary information needed and some are not necessary.
14. The input field is very well listed. And all the information I want can be found.
15. I can also select the checkbox to show the condition of the book in a more specific way.
16. I cannot find the create post button. I cannot find it. It is a little confused. Since I normally the create button is at the bottom.
17. It's a very good function to automatically fill in my contact numbers.
18. I think the website has fulfilled all the function I want.
19. One more thing need to be improve is there is nothing for me to differentiate different post. The post looks quite similar since they only have title, module code, condition and price. It has a very high possibility that these four fields are the same. So I think there should be some numbers or the post dates for me to differentiate different posts.
